- Canva

Project Description

- This collection of projects used the same data sets, but were intentional about creating visualizations for different audiences.
- The project dashboard was created for an internal team that was knowledgeable about the data.
- The executive summary was designed for an internal team as a presentation to get the necessary staff informed before pushing information out to the general public.
- The blog post was created with a story mindset and was built to captivate an audience that was not yet informed.
- The infographic was built as a quick bold visual to get information out to the public quickly.

Featured Deliverables
